

Girl Scouts 'Women of Achievement'

Girl Scouts of Northern New Jersey will honor six local women at the 36th annual Women of Achievement event on April 4 at the Westmount Country Club in Woodland Park. This year's honorees include Lisa Brady, chief operating officer at St. Joseph's Health; June Bray, senior vice president of regulatory affairs and medical writing at Allergan; Balpreet Grewal-Virk, director of community engagement population health at Hackensack Meridian Health; and Amber Sabathia, executive director of PitCCh In Foundation.

In addition, Janet Henry Cash, principal of Marshall Hill Elementary School in West Milford will be presented with the Elinor J. Ferdon Young Woman of Promise Award; and Martha DeYoung of Maywood, GSNNJ volunteer and leader, will be given the Mitzi Golbek Spirit of Girl Scouting Award.

The gala also features an extended cocktail reception, 50/50 raffle, silent auction and desserts. Guests from area corporations and the community-at-large are welcome to attend, place an ad in the tribute journal or make a donation. Tickets and advertisements may be purchased at gsnnj.org or by contacting Sandra Kenoff at 973-248-8200 or skenoff@gsnnj.org.
