ELEVATE CREDIT

Jessica Nemmers joined Elevate Credit in May 2020 as its first chief security officer. "Being in the cybersecurity field is now as diversified as being a doctor and each of us has opportunities to bring our talents to the table to fight cybercrime," she says. "It is what keeps me up at night but makes me excited to get to work in the morning."

EDUCATION: Western Governors University
(BS-Business, HR Management)

FIRST JOB: "I was a professional ballet dancer with the Dallas Ballet. It taught me physical and mental discipline, time management, fortitude, and the joy of being paid to do something I love."

HOBBY/PASSION: "I am a bourbon enthusiast."

A BETTER DFW: "I'd like to see increased funding for the arts. Houston and Denver have done an amazing job of funding their ballet companies and arts programs; I look to their models when I think of Dallas."
